Dear Mr. Kopaken:

Although the enclosed article from the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, "Plutonium Concentrations in Fish and Seawater from Kwajalein Atoll," has not yet appeared in the scientific literature, it has been accepted for publication by Health Physics. It probably will not be published for several months yet. Because of this, it should not be used as a reference article.

Knowing of your considerable interest in the subject matter, I did request--and receive--a preprint of the article, preprint UCRL-81653. Please note that this copy is for your information only, and until its publication in the open literature, it should not be cited.

We are still attempting to track ship's logs and records per your request, and will forward same when available.

Sincerely,

Bruce W. Wachholz, Ph.D.
