DOE CLASSIFIED (PAGE 322)

Mr. Brown also reported that the first teletherapy unit in the United States to employ cesium as the source of radioactivity had been demonstrated. Upon completion of a facility for recovery of cesium and other elements from the waste products of plutonium separation, radio-cesium would become competitive with radioactive cobalt in price.

Mr. Klaus then reported at length on the present status of Project Aureole and Project Sunshine, the two areas into which Project Gabriel has been divided. Extensive questions by the Commissioners were discussed.

During the foregoing discussion, Commissioner Campbell entered the meeting.

At the conclusion of the foregoing report, Messrs. Brown, Boss, Klaus, Dunning and Stumpf left the meeting.

b. Agreement for the Use of Bikini and Eniwetok (p. 134)
