SUBJECT: Subcontract 108
Residual Inventory Disposition

Attached is a copy of a Cooper Development Corporation letter dated April 6, 1959 referencing total previous correspondence on residual property inventory's disposition.

They list therein materials whose acquisition cost is represented to be $41,952.04 which they would like to acquire at this cost.

I have reviewed the items listed with Dr. E. Fleming and he has advised that the Chemistry Department has no further interest in these materials and approves selling same to Cooper.

This does not take into account items which we discussed which are in Cooper magazine storage at Rialto, California, such as REV Motors. There are items such as this which I will have to negotiate further with Cooper and probably the AEC as we do not have further use for or storage capacity for explosive or propellant fueled materials here. It may be we will have to authorize destruction of this material.

Would you please proceed to obtain AEC authority under the terms of Subcontract 108 for us to sell the materials as listed in Cooper's April 6 letter to Cooper. Expedient handling is requested.
